THE NEW MINE PAY LAW.

WORK OF THE CLUBS.

Governor Francis Calls for the Full Enforcement of the Measure.

Chairman Brice Warmly Indorses the Democratic Society.

Jefferson City, July 1.—The following communication has been received by Labor Commissioner Hall: Hon W. C. Hall, Labor Commissioner:

June 30, 1891.—Dear Sir: I desire to call your attention to the bi-weekly payment bill, passed at the last session of the legislature and which went into effect on the 22d, inst. It requires mine operators to pay their employees at least once in two weeks, and does not authorize the withholding of any portion of the wages due them. It differs from the old law in the latter only required payment once per month and permitted the retention of four days wages on any pay day.

I suggest that you send to the mine operators of the state copies of the new law and advise them that it is the intention of the authorities to see that the spirit and letter of the new law is observed and enforced in every respect. Respectfully,

D. R. FRANCIS,
Governor.

Mr. Hall is having the law printed in circular form and every one of the 840 mine operators in the state will receive a copy and have his attention directed to the act. No effort will be spared to enforce the law fully and completely.

Probably Fatal Accident to Millionaire Roosevelt.

New York, July 2.—Alfred Roosevelt, the millionaire banker of 33 Wallstreet, and son of the late William C. Roosevelt, founder of the Roosevelt hospital in this city, attempted to board the 8:15 train for New York at Mamaroneck to-day. He succeeded in reaching the platform, but lost hold of the iron rod which he had seized with each hand. The train had already acquired a quick motion, and Mr. Roosevelt was thrown violently against one of the abutments of the iron bridge, with his right leg under the wheels. Two cars passed over him, and when he was picked up it was found that the leg midway between the ankle and knee, was held together only by the skin. Blood was issuing from a scalp wound where his head had struck the bridge, and he was also suffering from internal injuries. Dr. Hunter cut off the foot with his scissors, but the patient was too weak to undergo any further operation.

What is it?

Farmers what is the use of selling your eggs and butter from one to two cents less than they are worth? Always take them to Pharis & Son who never fail to pay from 1/4 to 2c. more than competing merchants.

At no time within a quarter of a century has there been more than a year ahead of a presidential campaign more actively displayed in the political parties than at the present time. It is evident that the managers of both the old parties feel that the contest next year will be one of life or death. The organizers are at work, actively at work, and the belief is that by the 1st of January next nearly all the voters in the United States will be polled, and each party will be able to make an estimate of its active strength in the ensuing battle. The clubs are going to cut a very important figure during the next campaign. This feature of political life was introduced during the last presidential campaign, but being new, it was not brought to perfection and did not exert the influence that it is expected the clubs will exert in the next campaign. It is true that President Foster of the republican club issued a "fat-frying" letter attracting a good deal of attention, but, nevertheless, the clubs of both parties are now well organized or are in the process of being organized and the national committees of both parties have recognized them officially as influential adjuncts of the campaign.

For some time the democratic national committee hesitated to give official recognition to the clubs, but at last it has come. To-day the chairman of national committee sent out from his headquarters in New York the following letter to all the members of the national committee in all the states and territories:

National Democratic Committee, New York, July 1, 1891.—Dear Sir: The presidential contest of next year is almost at hand. The enemy is already preparing for it. We cannot be too circumspect or too swift in our arrangements to meet them. It is now plain that their principal reliance for the campaign and for the intermediate period is upon a colossal system of republican clubs. It will be maintained and supported by unlimited means drawn from the pockets of the beneficiaries of the monopoly policy. It can be met only by an equally extensive system of voluntary Democratic societies. That is, associations of the people in their several neighborhoods for the defense of their rights and interests against those who are banded to assist them. The democratic society was the first organization of the democratic party in the Union.

It is to their bold assertion of popular rights, their stubborn defence of sound republican principles, that we owe the first overthrow of the federalist party, the election of Mr. Jefferson and the blessed era of democratic rule, almost unbroken from 1800 to 1860.

The truly democratic club has ever been the engine of liberty endangered. The tendency at this time of the people of the United States to enroll themselves together in neighborhood organizations of this character is one of the signs of the political perils which confront them. It is manifest that the approaching struggle is to be one mainly of clubs, and it is accordingly greatly to be desired that a uniform and perfected system of democratic societies, thoroughly organized and in intimate association with each other, shall be established before the beginning of the next year.

I have examined the plan of organization now in process of successful accomplishment by the national association of democratic clubs, and in conjunction with other members of your executive committee feel it to be their duty to give it the most hearty support and to request each member of the national democratic committee to co-operate to the fullest extent.

The work undertaken by the executive committee of the clubs is absolutely necessary to be done and the opportunity is now presented of having it accomplished by an efficient instrument, at a minimum cost, and that disturbed over so many localities as not to be a burden upon any one committee.

An important feature of the plan is the selection of correspondents in the several states. This now requires urgent attention in your state I would, therefore, ask you to confer with the chairman of your state committee as soon as may be convenient, and arrange this particular part of the plan; also that you will do all in your power to facilitate the organization in other ways that you may think best.

Trusting that you will give these matters the early attention their importance demands. I remain, truly yours,

CALVIN BRICE,

Chairman National Democratic Com.

A PRISON WRECKED.

The City of Baton Rouge Visited by a Cyclone Which Destroyed Life and Wrecks Property.

Baton Rouge, July 6.—A cyclone from a southwesterly direction passed through the residence part of this city at 6:30 o'clock this morning, wrecking many houses. The penitentiary walls were blown in and many of the inmates were killed and wounded.

The steamboat Smoky City was blown to pieces, there being nothing left of her but the hull. Several of the crew were badly injured.

The cyclone passed over the lower part of town, unroofing houses, tearing up immense trees and carrying missiles for many blocks.

The cyclone entered the city at the Garig brickyard, passed through Catfish town, and struck the hill to the east of John Johnson's residence. Its path continued in a northeasterly direction, crossing the North boulevard 100 yards east of the governor's mansion. It then went north, striking the penitentiary building and the J. A. Dougherty residence on North street and then passed beyond the city.

The cyclone was 300 yards wide and ricocheted along its course like a cannon ball, devastating as it went.

In buying Hood's Sarsaparilla, for it is everywhere recognized as the standard building-up medicine and blood purifier. It has won its way to the front by its own intrinsic merit, and has the largest sale of any preparation of its kind. Any honest druggist will confirm this statement. If you decide to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy anything else instead. Be sure to get Hood's.

Dispatches from the Chicago Herald expedition in search of the landing place on this continent of Christopher Columbus, announce the spot on which the new world was born to civilization has at last been found and marked by an appropriate and enduring memorial. This spot is Watling's Island, Bahamas, and to prove that this was the San Salvador of Columbus it is only necessary to look closely into the record left by Columbus himself and compare it with the island as it exists to-day. Under the monument was placed a bundle of newspapers, containing copies of the principal journals of the United States and portraits of many leading editors making the monument more distinctively than ever an American newspaper offering to the memory of the great discoverer.

The Globe-Democrat don't like the alliance, the democrats or the People's party, and editorially has this to say of the three:

"To the majority of the democratic leaders and politicians in the alliance and its allies, the People's party is simply an annex to the democracy masquerading under a different name and advocating measures not yet presented formally by that organization, but engaged more or less effectively in doing democratic work. This opinion is not openly proclaimed by the democrats either north or south, but no intelligent person doubts that it is held, and that it is growing among those of the party who take an intelligent survey of the political situation.

The idea that the Alliance can in any way imperil democratic chances in any state does not, at any rate, appeal strongly to the judgment of the average person of intelligence in either of the great parties. No distinctive principle or purpose of the democratic party is antagonized by the Alliance. Nearly every measure advocated by the Alliance which has come up in politics in the past is favored by the democracy. Both are for free trade, free silver and against the national banking system. These are the leading issues before the country, and on each of them the republicans take the opposite ground. It is the republican party, and not the democracy, which is menaced by the Alliance. The latter, as a vigorous, aggressive organization exists in republican states only. In no other localities does it make any special pretensions to activity or potency. In no other communities will it make any earnest or vigorous canvass this year. While the chances that the third party will have any important influence in politics next year are rapidly waning, there is no room for doubt that it is as much the ally of the democratic party now as the copperheads of the north were the friends of the confederates during the days of the civil war."

TORTURING ECZEMA

Editor Iowa Plain Dealer Cured of Insufferable Itching and Pain by the Cuticura Remedies.

No Less than Five Physicians Consulted Their Combined Wisdom Followed Without Benefit.

I am sixty-six years old. In August, 1889, was troubled with the peculiar skin disease to which people of my age are subject, known among medical men as eczema. Its first appearance was near the ankle-joints. It rapidly extended over the lower extremities until my legs were nearly one raw sore; from legs the double extended across the hips, shoulders and the entire length of the arms, the legs and arms greatly swollen with an itching, burning pain, without cessation. Although the best medical advice attainable was employed, no less than five physicians of the place being consulted and the prescriptions being the result of their combined wisdom, the disease, though apparently checked, would recur in a few days as bad as ever; during its progress my weight fell away about twenty-five pounds and as an experiment I began the use of Cuticura, following the simple and plain instructions given with the remedies, and in four weeks found myself well, with skin soft and natural in color, the itching and pain entirely removed.
